LEGISLATORS VIEW CREOSOTING PLANT

Representative Provine Host to Fellow Lawmakers in Effort to Show Unnecessary to Pass Drastic Conservation Bill.

Hon. J. N. Provine, representative from Grenada county in the state legislature, seriously concerned over the probable passage at the next legislative session of a bill introduced at the last session and deferred by the committee until the next regular session which meets in January, invited his fellow legislators to be his guests here last Monday. The bill referred to was one seeking to prevent industrial plants from emptying their waste matter into the watercourses of the state if such waste matter polluted the waters to the detriment of fish, etc.

The local creosoting plant of the Ayr & Lord Tie Co. was recently ordered by the board of supervisors to prevent its waste matter from entering Grenada county streams and at the time the matter was brought up, it excited quite a bit of public discussion. It was claimed by some that creosote waste from the plant killed fish in the river and prevented live stock from drinking the waters. Others took the opposite view, and plant officials endeavored to convince the supervisors by reports of chemical analyses from the state chemist that their plant had not been polluting the streams.

Nine legislators were here Monday in response to Mr. Provine's invitation and they were shown over the Ayr & Lord creosoting plant that day by officials of the plant. They were: J. M. Gregory of Center, W. J. Evans of Calhoun City, C. H. Aldridge of Wilcox, J. H. Parish of Oakland, H. G. West of Grenada, R. L. Thornton of Courtland, Joe W. George of Greenwood and G. E. Denley of Coffeyville.

Mr. Provine's invitation to the legislators was couched in the following language:

"In view of the fact that a very drastic conservation bill was introduced at the recent special session of the legislature, and, by the committee to which it was referred, deferred to the next regular session, I am writing to suggest that if a bill of this nature is enacted into a law the effect will be to drive some 25 or more of our industries from the state, including cotton factories and pulp mills. Inasmuch as the Creosote Plant in our County is typical of others over the State I am taking the liberty of inviting you over to inspect the same.

"I extend to you a cordial invitation to be my guest on the 11th inst. at 10 o'clock, when our people will show you from actual experiments that the refuse and waste matter from local plant, the Ayr & Lord Tie Plant, does not in the least affect fish, etc. in a detrimental way.

"Knowing you to be deeply interested in the industrial development that is on in our great State, let's investigate and not hinder or retard. I urge you in the interest of good government to be present. You will meet other Representatives and I expect all to take lunch with me."

BUYS DAVIS-MIZE STOCK

A business deal of interest to the general public in this territory was consummated the latter part of last week when the Grenada Grocery Co. purchased the greater part of the stock of goods of Davis-Mize & Co., both local wholesale grocery concerns. The goods bought have been transferred to the Grenada Grocery Co. warehouse and Davis-Mize & Co. has discontinued business here.

Several months ago it was announced to the public by Davis-Mize that it would quit business in Grenada just as soon as it collected all outstanding accounts and at that time it was stated that the concern would sell only on a C. O. D. basis. The purchase of its merchandise stock by the Grenada Grocery Co. served only to hasten the day of its closing here.

J. H. Oliver, head of the Grenada Grocery Co., is one of Grenada's most wideawake business men. He has been eminently successful in his management of the concern and has established a reputation for the enterprise that is most enviable.

CLUB TO CONCENTRATE ON HOTEL, SWIMMING POOL

The Young Men's Business Club, at its meeting last Thursday at noon, voted almost unanimously to concentrate its efforts on a new hotel and a municipal swimming pool for Grenada, these two being decided to be the two most important suggestions offered through a suggestion box used by the club. Both the hotel and swimming pool were fully discussed as to their importance and the club executive committee will give a careful study to each and present to the club at a later meeting plans as to how each or both may be secured, if the committee thinks the club able to bring about their consummation.

ANNOUNCE PRESENTATION

"Trelawney of the Wells", Sir Arthur Pinero's delightful play, which toured the states from coast to coast with an all star cast in a revival of a couple of years ago, has been selected for the fall production of the Player's Guild of Grenada College. The Player's Guild itself is composed of college stars and in the past three years of its existence has received high praise and enthusiastic applause for the artistry and realism shown in its plays. The members are well known in Grenada and have a considerable reputation in a number of north Mississippi towns from former outstanding productions such as "Little Women", "The Show Off" and "Barrie's Quality Street".

Friends in the city of Grenada as well as the college are eagerly awaiting their play for this fall. Miss Ruth G. Bale, director of the Player's Guild, has announced the cast for "Trelawney of the Wells", which will be presented early in December. The leading role is "Miss Trelawney" which will be played by Miss Mary Miller Murry, of Ripley, Miss Murry is a senior in expression and president of the student body of the college. ENDS DESCRIPTION OF TRIP TO CANADA

Mrs. George C. Carson Concludes Interesting Account of Travels—Beauty of Dominion Impressive—Trip Ends at Yellowstone Park.

This is the final letter, written by Mrs. George C. Carson, of Los Angeles, to her parents in Grenada, Dr. and Mrs. W. P. Ferguson, describing her recent trip to Canada. The letter, written from Lake Louise, Alberta, Canada, follows:

Well, before leaving Chicago we took a ride around, saw the old grounds on Michigan Boulevard where you and mother lived in the long ago during the time you were attending college in that city. Most all of Michigan Blvd. is now stores and business places, but you would still recognize the old landmarks. In my letter of last week I forgot to tell you about how much we enjoyed our visit in Detroit, Michigan, especially our trips through the town called Dearborn and owned entirely by the great Henry Ford, the man you so much admire - so much so, that I don't think you could be induced to trade your Ford for my Packard.

Detroit is indeed a beautiful city and it can well give much credit to Mr. Ford for all he has done for its betterment. There are thousands of men employed in his different plants.

We left Chicago for St. Paul and Minneapolis. Reached St. Paul early one morning and encountered our first rain of the season. We drove around after breakfast, enjoyed the beauties of Como Lake, beautiful park with bears and buffaloes and then drove over to Minneapolis. These two places are rightly called "Twin Cities", divided only by the Mississippi River which is not so wide up here. Both cities are progressive. The air is nice and fresh. We would say a very nice place to live at this season of the year only as it gets very cold in the winter.

We secured reservations for a drawing room on the Soo Line bringing us direct into Banff, Alberta, Canada, a journey of about three nights and two days. Our trip through the province of Saskatchewan before reaching the Province of Alberta, was quite interesting. Farm houses are great distances apart and a great deal of wheat ranching was in evidence. We had to have our baggage inspected at North Portal at which point we entered Canada again.

Canada throughout this section is a vast prairie stretch and a very prosperous looking country so far. The conductor gave us an immigration slip of paper to fill out giving nationality, occupation, etc. We filled it out, and gave it back to him and about five or six hours later a knock came at our door and the officer asked if we were touring. We said "Yes" and he said "That's all" and he never bothered our baggage at all, but upon entering eastern Canada, the officer had more curiosity and took a look.

There were no radios on our train coming up, and as we spent one Sunday on our trip we missed hearing a good sermon. We passed many interesting Canadian towns; Moosejaw, Canada, is quite a good sized town, the first one we noticed that had a street car since we left Minneapolis. We find the Canadian Pacific Railway lines very nice. The employees are very courteous, willing and anxious to perform little acts of service, to make traveling a delight. Through this northwest section, both in America and Canada, the farm houses are small, white painted affairs with very large barns painted red every time. We are told that a small white house and a big red barn is invariably evidence of a prosperous farmer. Germans are supposed to be in greater number among the substantial farmers than other nationalities.

We stopped in Banff and enjoyed our stay very much. It is the first time we have had to use our (Continued on page 4) year average production. Sugar cane syrup production is estimated at 4,370,000 gallons, compared with 3,600,000 gallons produced in 1928, and 2,886,000 gallons the five year 1923-1927 average.

Production of oats this season, estimated at 1,408,000 bushels, is only slightly above the five year average production, but about 70 per cent larger than the 1928 crop.

Peanut production this season is estimated at 5,760,000 pounds, compared with 5,000,000 pounds produced last year, and 7,155,000 pounds the five year average production. The amount of cowpeas and soybeans gathered this season will be 15 to 20 per cent more than in 1928, when approximately 207,000 bushels of cowpeas, and 140,000 bushels of soybeans were harvested.

Pecan production in Mississippi this season is approximately 2,500,000 pounds compared with 6,300,000 pounds harvested in 1928.

MINISTER TALKS ON NEED OF YOUTHFUL ACTIVITIES

Rev. J. H. Boosey, rector of All Saints Episcopal Church, addressed the members of the Grenada Rotary Club at its meeting Tuesday on the necessity of a recreational center in Grenada for its young people, dwelling particularly on the need of a boy scout organization into which the youths of the community could pour their surplus energy. The speaker called attention to the great development in radio reception, showing how by the elimination of much of the interference in the channels through which radio programs are broadcast had made for better reception and said that if the people of the community would direct their thoughts of their children into the proper channels, they, too, could see the need of some outlet for their energies and that it would then be an easy task to put across a boy scout program or any other plan for the development of the young people into better citizens.

What Mr. Boosey had to say was along the lines of other addresses heard recently at the club which is devoting considerable attention and much of its activity just now toward the revival of the scout organization here.

Good Dairymen Earn Four Times As Much As Cotton Farmers

W. C. Curle, Development Association Agent, Cites Figures to Show Dairy Farmer's Earnings Are Greater than Cotton Farmer's.

What the average progressive Mississippi farmer may expect in return for his investment and efforts as he becomes proficient in the dairy business may be judged by what the average net cash income of the dairy farmers in a well known dairy district in the north in 1929 was. The average was $2813.00.

The average size of the farm was 162 acres. Each farm averaged milking 12 to 15 good cows. Practically all feed and roughage was raised on each farm operated by the family and one hired helper. The milk income was largely supplemented by sale of hogs, chickens and eggs and surplus dairy animals. These figures picture the financial returns of dairymen in the north with their high price lands, long hard winters, expensive equipments and short growing seasons. And this program certainly should commend itself to serious study, to the southern prospective dairyman, as well as those now engaged in this manner of diversified farming.

Now the net balance of $2813.00 earned by the average short herd dairy farmer is about four times the total receipts from crops of the average Mississippi farmer. That is why prosperity follows the dairy cow and why all over Mississippi thinking men and women are working to develop ours into a great dairy state.

The work is still in its infancy, much remains to be done. We have our original belief in the project confirmed by results. Now to develop diversified farming on a still broader scale and to a higher degree of efficiency, the Grenada County Farm Development Association has been financed for another year's service through the public spirited business men of Grenada. This is only another instance of these business men displaying their faith in the possibilities of dairying in Grenada county and co-operating with the farmers in a practical way in helping them to help themselves in bringing about substantial farm relief.

The great need of the hour is more and better dairy cows on every farm. Of course it's not all in the breeding, but the question of good breeding is the foundation stone. The real foundation of the herd is the sire. But let's not forget that the man back of the dairy herd must be interested in his work. He must have a desire for the best and a determination to win.

Feed, water and shelter are three important items that can not be overlooked in any particular, if the dairy cow is to do her best. We still have a few days in which to sow oats and rye which make excellent winter pasture and a wonderful cover crop. Home grown feeds lower production cost and increase fertility, yields and profits.

There are two roads leading out before us farmers for traveling another year; one crop cotton road that many will be enticed to follow on account of this year's bumper crop that leads to poverty and want and leaves you at the mercy of the credit system. The other road of diversifying through dairying, poultry, hogs and home grown feed leads to a cash basis and fertile farms. Yours for the latter road in any way that I can serve you.

PRESIDENT ENROLLS IN RED CROSS

President Hoover, who is also president of the American Red Cross, enrolls in the annual Roll Call of the society, which occurs from Armistice Day to Thanksgiving Day, November 11 to 28.

FREIGHT TRAIN WRECKED

Early Tuesday morning a north-bound freight on the Illinois Central Railroad was wrecked between Tie Plant and Glenwild about four miles south of here. The accident was caused by a broken journal on the third car from the engine. There were no injuries.

Damage approximated at $15,000 was done.

Twenty-six cars were derailed and 450 feet of track were torn up. Passenger trains Nos. 33 and 3 southbound, detoured over the Y. & M. V. Railroad via Greenwood, also No. 2, northbound, and No. 24, northbound passenger, met at the scene of the accident and transferred mail, express and passengers.

Three wreckers and a large crew of men worked rapidly to clear away the debris and succeeded in doing so in time for No. 4 to pass on schedule time.

APPEAL FOR CHILDREN

Jackson, Miss., Nov. 11.—It is only a few days now until Thanksgiving. Upon most of us blessings are showered in abundance, but to an unfortunate few many of the blessings we enjoy are denied. At this joyful season one's heart should go out to his fellowman, and especially that portion of humanity bereft of a mother's love and a father's guiding hand.

There are thousands on thousands of happy families in this glorious land where the laugh of the little child brings gladness to the heart of loving parents, and then again there are the unfortunate—the little ones who have no homes and the homes that have no little ones.

The Mississippi Children's Home Society is an organization in this state which is doing its utmost to bring joy and happiness to the little child in need of a home, and to the desolate home in need of that happiness that only the music of a childish voice can bring.

Like all good undertakings this work cannot be done without the aid and encouragement of the generous, kind-hearted people of Mississippi who are enjoying God's blessings and whose greatest obligation is to show their appreciation in a substantial way, for the prosperity, health, and happiness that a beneficent provider has vouchsafed them.

This society is doing a great work for humanity—it is attempting to make good women and worthy men out of the unfortunate waifs of humanity placed in their care by fate and misfortune, and it deserves your aid.

When we are settled in a comfortable home, with happy children playing around our hearthstone, we are too prone to forget the misery of others, but let us suppose for an instant that the pendulum of fortune could swing back and throw your child and mine on the generosity of others. Would you not feel that it would indeed be a great comfort to know that there is such an institution as the Mississippi Children's Home Society who would see that your children would be cared for and protected.

A contribution on Thanksgiving, then, should not be regarded as charity but as a privilege. Just enclose your offering in an envelope and address it to the Mississippi Children's Home Society, box 634, Jackson, Mississippi.

COTTON REPORT

There were 10,189 bales of cotton, counting round as half bales, ginned in Grenada County, from the crop of 1929 prior to November 1, 1929, as compared with 6,807 bales ginned to November 1, 1928.

FAIR ASSOCIATION IS CLEAR OF DEBT

Recent Grenada Fair Receipts Paid Old Indebtedness and Left Nice Balance in Treasury—Officials Should Be Praised.

For the first time in many years the North Mississippi Fair Association is out of debt and has a nice balance of nearly two thousand dollars in its treasury. From the receipts of the 1929 fair, which closed October 26, an indebtedness of nearly three thousand dollars that had been outstanding for four years or more was retired. The fact that the association is now "on its feet" is gratifying to all those who have so loyally been supporting the annual fair and is especially so to those public spirited citizens who have pledged their credit to further the enterprise.

That the fair association is able to show such an excellent financial statement is all the more remarkable since plans for the 1929 event were late in the making. The catalog and premium list was not issued until just a short time before the opening day and advertising for the event was late in getting out to the highways and byways. At one time during the year it looked as if the fair was to be abandoned, all officers having tendered their resignations and the directors apparently expecting to make no preparations for the fall meet. But later it was decided to go ahead with the 1929 fair anyway. S. M. Cain was persuaded to serve again as secretary and he went to work with a vim to put the proposition across. And that he more than succeeded is attested by the neat bank balance to the association's credit.

Total receipts from the 1929 fair were $15,372.94, including donations of $2000 from Grenada County and $1000 from the City of Grenada. Total expenses were $13,228.48, including the notes outstanding. Deducting the donations by the county and city governments and the old indebtedness, it will be seen that this year's fair was more than self-sustaining. In fact the net excess of receipts over disbursements was more than two thousand dollars.

All who lent their aid and support to the promotion of the fair deserve the utmost commendation for their achievement this year.

HOME ECONOMICS PUPILS IN SPECIAL PROGRAM

Holcomb, Nov. 11.—The Holcomb home economics students gave a splendid "Kitchen Maid Musical Revue" Friday night, Nov. 8, in the high school building. The revue was directed by Miss Edith Crew, home economics teacher in the Holcomb school.

The program was rendered by a twenty-piece jazz orchestra, the instruments consisting of kitchen utensils. The band costumes were snappy red jackets and white trousers. Tin spoons were used to decorate the red jackets.

The special feature was the "Wedding of the Painted Doll", by pupils in the fifth and sixth grades.

194 PARTS RUST-PROOFED ON NEW CHRYSLER CARS

Rust is the sign of age and neglect. More automobiles find their way into the junk heap because rust has conquered than for any other reason. Even if it runs well, the rust-eaten car is an object of distaste to particular people. Pride of ownership is gone and when this has departed, mechanical efficiency soon goes also.

With this thought in mind, Chrysler engineers have made one of the most comprehensive studies it has been possible to make of the subject of rust. Thousands of experiments have shown how rust starts in each part and the part has been examined as to material, the duties it has to perform, and the conditions to which it is subjected in service.

Every part that could rust has been treated so the ugly oxide cannot get a foothold. It has been found that six processes are required to meet the requirements—bonderizing, cadmium plating, chrome plating, sheridizing, parkerizing and nickel plating. Each puts a rust-proof skin over the metal that prevents even a point of rust starting and thus spreading over the surface.

In this move of Chrysler's to banish rust a real advance has been made. After these processes were adopted, parts concerned were subjected for days to a strong salt spray under high pressure, without the slightest sign of rust appearing, tests far more severe than the car would get in a year of driving.

The rust-proof car ushers in a new era in motoring, a new standard of car life. Chrysler cars with 194 rust-proofed parts are virtually free from rust troubles and can be kept in their original state of brightness and beauty so long as owners keep them properly washed and polished.

PRESIDENT HOOVER SPOKE U. S. SENTIMENT.

President Hoover's Armistice Day speech was a just and comprehensive interpretation of the heart and thought of the United States. It was, in our judgment, Mr. Hoover's greatest deliverance. It was an appeal for world peace for which he gave abundant reasons. It was a home-loving and widely patriotic appeal to the world. Yet, he counseled his own country not to rest in a false security, and to stand ready to keep all foreign soldiers off Uncle Sam's soil.

PAT HARRISON A POWER FOR MISSISSIPPI.

Those who have been watching the scenes being enacted in the United States senate while considering the tariff bill sent up from the house, know that there has been no senator among those opposing the bill who has shown a more intimate knowledge of every section and every item of the bill than Senator Pat Harrison. The senator is the second ranking Democrat on the finance committee. He kept track of every feature of the measure as it was being considered by the Finance Committee. He has been merciless in laying bare the injustice and incongruities of the measure since it has been before the senate. He has shown a technical knowledge of tariff legislation which has surprised many Democrats and startled old guard Republicans. He has still further confirmed the record he has achieved as being one of the most skilful debaters in the senate. Mississippi has every reason to feel proud of her "Pat".

Clinton W. Gilbert, Washington staff correspondent of the Philadelphia Public Ledger, pays the Senator a great tribute in a recent letter to his paper, and coming as it does from a Philadelphia source, it is doubly significant. Here is Mr. Gilbert's letter as it appeared in the Philadelphia Public Ledger:

"Senator Pat Harrison plays a role on the Democratic side in this tariff fight similar to that which Senator David A. Reed plays on the Republican side. Mr. Reed carries the burden of the regular Republican majority of the Senate finance committee. He has youth and vigor and convictions. On the other side, there is no single figure quite so outstanding, for the reason that the opposition to the bill is a coalition, and neither any one Democrat nor any one progressive Republican can be said to lead it. Moreover, Senator Simmons, ranking Democrat in the Senate finance committee, though old and frail, has not lost his political cunning. But Senator Harrison, who is the second man on the Democratic side, has youth and vigor. He is Senator Simmon's right-hand man, and in the actual rough-and-tumble on the floor he is No. 1 among the Democrats.

"Mr. Harrison has always been known to the public generally for his gift of satire and humor. He loves to have fun at the expense of the Republicans. But in the Senate he is known for his industry in committee. He is that unusual combination—a man who gets a lot of amusement out of being senator, has a talent for publicity and yet who has a very serious side as a hard-working legislator. Senator Simmons, in the finance committee, leans upon him more than upon anyone else. In the natural course of things, Mr. Harrison will, in not many years, be chairman of the Senate finance committee whenever the Democrats have a majority in the upper house.

"He has many qualities that make him an important member of the Senate. He is quick on his feet, ready in repartee, clever in debate. He is, moreover, a good Senate politician; that is to say, he knows the Senate, as Simmons himself knows it, as Vice-President Curtis used to know it, as Senator McNary knows it and as Senator La Follette knows it. He is popular among his colleagues, has a great many contacts on both sides of the House, understands how the senatorial mind works and can make an accurate guess at just what tactics will be effective in the Senate and what will not. He has not any particular pride of opinion, makes no enemies, even with his satire, and with it all, he realizes the importance of committee work on which all real effectiveness in the Senate depends. The situation is so shaping itself that whenever the Democrats come into power he will be one of the two or three most important members on what will then be the majority side of the upper house."

WHAT IS DEMANDED IN PREACHING.

The Witness of recent date carried an article from Samuel M. Shoemaker, Jr., in which the writer touches on many angles of the present day mind as to religion and the church. He says "we belong to a generation which likes to prowl amongst negatives and derives its hugest joy in spiking the guns of another certainty". He says many questions are being asked, but quotes Mr. Chesterton as saying, "It is time to cease to give up asking questions, and begin to look for answers".

He very pertinently states:

"No man's interior life subsists upon what he does not believe; or upon what seems to him questionable: it subsists rather upon certain ideas which may first have been adopted as hypotheses, but which as time goes on have shown themselves to be such rock as will support him if he stand upon them."

"Religion is not more called upon to face the 'facts' of science than science is called upon to face the 'facts' of religious experience. If religion is again to face the world with power and conviction, it must be because religion has developed a new certainty of religious experience."

On the kind of preaching needed he says:

"I know that ye seek Jesus, I know that the reason why people continue to come to Christian churches, even in a cluttered and over-stimulated age when the distractions and competitions are so acute, is that there is a natural affinity between the human soul and Jesus Christ. You are very patient with us preachers, and you give us a good many chances. But you will finally turn away from a man without an emphasis upon Jesus Christ. Humanitarian efforts, and education in the things of religion, and topical sermons have their place; but what brings you people to church, even some of you who do not know it, is that you want to be brought into touch with that radiant personality of Jesus Himself, because somehow He lived human life victoriously, and that is how we want to live. We have all heard of many plans to revitalize the church, and make it more of a force in the world.

"One thing alone will do it: to recognize that humanity is still seeking Jesus and to put Jesus in terms which humanity can understand. We take for granted that our church people know Him well, when often they do not. And we think that to attract outsiders, we must not be too directly spiritual in our appeal, when the fact seems to be that the world is waiting for the church to return to its original mission and message and does not intend to listen to the church until it does.

"I am convinced that what you want from the church is a deeper understanding of and a truer relationship with Jesus Christ, that your basic motive in coming here is spiritual, and that when we try to decoy you in with secondary allurements, or nourish your souls with anything less than the radiant Gospel after you get here, we are off our track and cannot long keep your allegiance."

THE DEATH OF DR. J. C. FANT.

When the spirit of Dr. John C. Fant was called to the other world on Nov. 8, the state of Mississippi lost an educator second to none, a clean, clear brained, upright and dependable citizen and a most useful factor in the general economy of the state. He was a Christian gentleman.

He trained with no faction in the politics of the state; he meddled with nobody's political aspirations, however careful he was in this regard, his closest friends knew his leanings and his convictions about these matters.

His life was spent in educational work. In every place, he rendered the highest service.

His greatest work was at the head of the Mississippi State College for Women. The college grew and prospered wonderfully under his administration. Whatever he did, he did with all his might. The writer lost a friend in the death of this fine man and he drops a tear with those who sorrow over his going away.

AGRICULTURAL COMMISSIONERS GOT FUNDS.

The lobby investigation at Washington reveals that a number of southern commissioners of agriculture got funds from the so-called Southern Tariff League, and that J. C. Holton, Mississippi's commissioner, got $919.00.

It will be recalled that The Sentinel stated when these tariff meets were being sponsored by these commissioners that these men knew no more about what the tariff is than a hawk does about a handsaw, and that our people had best look well at the bait being dangled before them. It turns out as we expected. It is the case of the hand of Esau but the voice of Jacob. It is surprising how readily suckers are still being caught. They are even more numerous than in the days of Barnum. He said one was born every minute. It seems that we pick so many of these suckers for public office.

EXPOSES TARIFF BENEFICIARIES.

Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, said in a statement issued Monday night that recent Senate procedure had served to "throw further light on the insatiable greed and arrant hypocrisy that comes to the surface in connection with tariff legislation."

He said it was well known that dominant Republican members of the finance committee included Reed of Pennsylvania, Edge of New Jersey and Bingham of Connecticut. Then he presented an outline showing that under committee proposals Pennsylvania would obtain 41 increased tariffs with 68 leading industries; New Jersey, 40 for 69, and Connecticut, 44 for 52, Pennsylvania, he asserted, already gets $1,376,000,000 of tariff protection and would obtain $225,000,000 more if all articles proposed in the pending bill were approved.

HIGHT ON WOMEN'S WEAR.

Bare legs, with rolled down stockings, will sorter do for spring chickens, but when it comes to ladies around the fifty mark, going out in public with rolled stockings, the law should be enforced to the letter.

The above is taken from the editorial columns of the Winston County Journal, edited by our sedate, serious minded and good friend, Will Hight. We are a bit curious to know what "law" it is that Bro. Hight wants "enforced". Take it from us, Will, when you begin to talk legislating and lawing about what women shall wear, particularly what they do not wear, you are biting off the biggest mouthful you ever undertook, old boy. Go to it old fellow, we are with you—we are standing behind you, but mind you a long way behind you.

It is stated that Great Britain's National Sunday School Union has printed an edition of the Bible from which is omitted a number of things that have been subjects of many pulpit discourses and which have served to adorn many worth while stories for the centuries. The story of Joseph and Potiphar's wife is toned down so as not to reflect so seriously on Mrs. Potiphar. Brann, who made skyrockets of the English language and who could also make it a veritable volcano, said in the years ago that there was nothing to back the story except what Joseph said, and that the story was written by a man. Brann never manifested much confidence in man's moral integrity. We have seen no statement as to the story of Abraham and Hagar. That was also "written by a man" as Brann would say. These latter day Solomons are doing perilous things when they begin to read out of the Bible incidents and events that have meant so much for good in the world's history.

The election of Hubert T. Delaney, negro, from New York, to Congress will give Oscar DePriest a desk-mate in the House and will provide a sympathetic ear into which he may pour his troubles.

TAX BOOKS NOW OPEN

To the Taxpayers of Grenada County:

The Board of Supervisors has fixed the levy for taxes for the fiscal year 1929-1930 and this is to advise you that the sheriff's office is ready to proceed with the collection of taxes.

It is always advisable to pay your taxes as early as possible and a great portion of Grenada County taxpayers have always done so. This serves to eliminate congestion in the sheriff's office during the last few days of tax paying time and prevents the possibility of your not being waited on within the time limit prescribed by law.

The statutes provide for the assessment of 10 per cent damages on all taxes unpaid before the first of February. The commutation road tax is delinquent after Dec. 15th and the law requires that the names of all delinquents on this tax be turned over to the justices of the peace for collection which, of course, means the adding of damages. By paying your taxes now you will avoid all these unpleasant features and will confer a great favor on this office.

Respectfully,
FRED S. NASON, Sheriff
By D. D. CRAWFORD, D. S.
Grenada, Miss., Nov. 7, 1929.

NON-RESIDENT NOTICE

THE STATE OF MISSISSIPPI
To Mrs. Jessie Schultz and W. R. Schultz, non residents, whose post office and street address is 108 Buckeye Street, North Little Rock, Arkansas.

You are summoned to appear before the chancery court of the county of Grenada in said state, on the second Monday of December, December Rules, 1929, to defend the suit No. 4442 in said court of W. L. Stone (et al) wherein you are defendants.

This 28th day of October, A. D. 1929.

Nature Thought of Everything

Nature thought of everything when the human body was made. When the body is about to become ill, nature planned danger signals to warn us. Thus, if our children grind their teeth when they sleep, or lack appetite, or suffer from abdominal pains, or itch about the nose and fingers, we should know that they may have contracted worms. Then, if we are wise, we buy a bottle of White's Cream Vermifuge and safely and surely expel the worms. Thus we avoid the danger of very serious trouble. White's Cream Vermifuge costs only 35c a bottle, and can be bought from CORNER DRUG STORE

PETITION FOR PARDON

To His Excellency Theo. G. Bilbo, Governor, Jackson, Miss.

We respectfully petition your excellency that a pardon be granted Johnnie Jones, now serving a life sentence in the State penitentiary on a plea of guilty, at the July Term, 1925 of the Circuit Court of Grenada County, Mississippi, for the killing of Albert Hodges.

Further we would show that there were causes and circumstances connected with the killing that provoked the killing by the deceased, and that said Jones was afraid of Albert Hodges. Further that Johnnie Jones was a good and industrious negro prior to being sent to the penitentiary, and that we believe that the ends of justice have been obtained by the serving of the sentence to this time, and that he has been sufficiently punished and now merits a pardon.

Respectfully submitted,
W. N. HAYWARD,
11 15 2t and Others.

WARNING

All lands in Grenada County owned and controlled by me are posted. Agents, collectors and friends take notice.

ENDS DESCRIPTION OF TRIP TO CANADA

letter of credit, our traveler's checks having given out. We found the Bank of Montreal conveniently installed right in the lobby of the Banff Hotel and in no time at all the red tape proceedings were filled and the money ours. After a pleasant stay, we reached Lake Louise.

By the way, before we reached Banff, we came in sight of the Bow River, quite beautiful but does not take away from us the grandeur of the Columbia River, one of the most beautiful in the world and which causes one to marvel at the grand rocky mountain scenery, that towers high above the clouds, that's a sight you can never forget. Likewise it would be hard to forget the Bow River and the magnificent palatial hotel at Banff.

This morning we had a lovely breakfast in the Chateau at Lake Louise. This is one of the most popular mountain resorts on the continent. European plan and costs about $25.00 a day for two. It is so wonderful here that you appreciate the grandeur more than anything else for the moment. The Alpine wild flowers of the Canadian Rockies are beautiful beyond all description. Every table in the breakfast room this morning had a gorgeous bouquet of Iceland Poppies, and with only a turn of the head you could see fields of them along the mountain slopes making them a fresh delight to the eye. In the sunlit valleys and beside the streams there are scores of various colored wild blossoms. The altitude is over 5,000 feet here. The mountain slopes are tree lined, miles and miles high. There are peaks of snow everywhere you look and calm, peaceful, blue lakes. Every turn in the road brings a picture in this fairland of mountain, rivers and lakes.

We see trail riders, hikers, canoeing on the Bow River, alpine climbing, hunting, fishing, golfing and motoring and with it all, you hate to leave.

Lake Louise is about 40 miles from Banff and we have enjoyed our stay here at the Chateau more than at any place we have been. It is the one and only hotel right on the lake. Every mile that one travels in this country is one of unsurpassed beauty.

We will take a tram car for a three mile journey from the Chateau down to the station. There we will get off at a most inviting little depot containing lunch counter, curio stands where one can buy everything from a bear's tooth to the heaviest of Indian rugs. We must say that we are spellbound. Our trip has been so pleasant here. We glanced back and saw a half-circle of towering Rocky Mountains in the center of which there are indentations filled with some ten to forty feet of snow. We are amazed beyond words. The trees stand up like living pillars and one gazes high up into precipitous forests. It is as if the quiet of cathedrals had somehow been brought into the open air. The high trail gives one a sense of spaciousness and then you are told that you are viewing Cathedral Mountain - oh, it is beautiful with its delicate crags. I have not words to describe all the things we have seen. There are so many places to go - we have been to lakes above the clouds, then down into paradise valley, about six miles long, carpeted with alpine flowers, exquisite in coloring. There's Emerald Lake, Wapta Lake, Summit Lake, Takakawah Falls and the Yoho Pass.

We are now resting our eyes, our hearts, and our minds for the last time, for this season at least, on the grand views that are seemingly limitless.

We are leaving here for Vancouver and Victoria, British Columbia, but feel sure we can never see anything more wonderful than Banff and Lake Louise. We simply exclaimed "Yoho" an expression of the Indians when they come suddenly upon anything that amazes them. We hope to spend a few other vacations in the Canadian Rockies - here amid the scenic grandeur of jungled peaks, green forests, cool rushing rivers, and gem-like lakes. There's delightful rest for work-tired bodies and minds - there's a thrill for those riding and hiking along winding trails - waters for fishing, swimming, boating and countless other pleasures - Ah, we can well sound the warning "See America First".

As we leave, there is a feeling of being winged - not bound to earth. Our eyes are drawn up and up to the glorious peaks that stand guard all about - mountain walls rise high above sparkling seas - sprawling glaciers - gleaming silver, rose and green myriads of wooded islands, oldest of Indian tribes, totem poles, ceremonial masts, salmon canneries, whaling stations, queer old settlements, reminders of a century ago - all these we see as the train swings toward Vancouver and soon we land in Vancouver.

There's been so much to see I almost forgot to get back to my letter. We have enjoyed Vancouver, it being very much like other western cities, not so nice though as Los Angeles. We will soon be getting ready to go aboard a steamer for Victoria, British Columbia. It's a perfect day and I'm sure we will enjoy the trip.

Now I must tell you that we did enjoy our trip. The water was smooth, the environments were charming and the meals were tasty. We found Victoria a very unusual town. It was the last Canadian city we visited. It's not as large as Vancouver but is filled with interesting drives and the largest settlement of Chinese on the Pacific Coast. There were so many there that we wondered if we were not in Hong Kong, China. Needless to say we enjoyed several dishes of Chicken Chop Suey made famous throughout this country by Chinese cooks.

We took off from the coast of British Columbia aboard ship for one of the most fascinating of America's water journeys when we left Victoria for Seattle. We landed in Seattle in due time and left there by rail through Washington, Oregon (stopping at Portland, the City of Roses) - Idaho, Montana and Wyoming our destination being Yellowstone Park. Before telling you about this great park, I must tell you of a little side trip we made from Portland to visit a village in the state of Washington where all of Mr. Carson's brothers reside within a radius of some 20 miles. As we were only going to have the day there, the different families through telephone communications decided to have a little reunion at one home. All during the day they were arriving. By that evening there were some thirty people at the house and not anyone there by any name other than Carson. It was quite a sight to me, having been reared as an only child and only used to small family gatherings. I was quite delighted with the increase in the family and quite made up my mind that when I returned to California I'll be purchasing a much larger homestead in order to be able to retaliate for this family reunion. We were all seated at a lovely table for dinner that evening that had been brought in by the different families and it was complete from soup to nuts, and we felt rather embarrassed at such a lavish show of hospitality.

Next to Mississippi, I must say the Washington people won my heart by their great hospitality.

Now we are in the great Yellowstone Park. We have wished so many times that you could have come with us on this trip. We came in at the Gardener entrance to the park. It seemed so vast that I am going to wait and see it all and then give you a condensed description.

Late afternoon of the fourth day.

We have seen it all and anything I could say would fail to portray the wonders of this nationally owned park. The emotion of astonishment never left me for a moment. Yellowstone is the largest and probably the most famous of our National parks, but after seeing so many other beautiful displays of Nature's work, I really was not overly enthused, and my suggestion to the amateur traveler is, "See Yellowstone First" in order that it might be more appreciated. I am sure I would have enjoyed it much more had I seen it among my earlier travels. However, it is distinctly different and yet there is much that is similar to other scenery.

It takes four or five days to go through it quickly and see it sparingly which we did, owing to the fact that they were closing the park. We were a bit late getting in. You stop at different lodges or hotels each night on your journey through. The next morning automobiles, with seats like a street car, accommodating 15 or 20 people, hurry you through beautiful scenery a distance of from 40 to 50 miles to the next lodge - a delightful morning ride. Our favorite hotel was Old Faithful Inn. The park was created by an Act of Congress in 1872, and Uncle Sam has made it convenient and comfortable for all who wish to come. There is no competition as everything is run by the Government, so once in, you are under orders and there is but one way - their way. Once you get accustomed to this, you fairly enjoy yourself. The one great thing we noticed was that the employees at all places excepting the Old Faithful, had a very limited vocabulary consisting principally of "I don't know - I don't know!" In fact, I imagine, being under government control there were no explanations of anything necessary. You simply paid the price.

It is situated in northwestern Wyoming and extends into Montana. It is 26 miles long, and 54 miles wide and has an area of over 3000 square miles. It's like a big volcanic plateau mountain, towering 8 and 10,000 feet high. There are hundreds of steaming geysers. There are over 4000 hot boiling springs. As you drive along, you will see smoke rising as from a fire. Again you will see water shooting up 150 feet and then down and then up again for maybe ten minutes, and after an hour's rest, the water in this hole will repeat its performance. There are prismatic pools with the beauty of gems and flowers and there are the great paint pots consisting of big ponds of soft mud boiling and puffing and bubbling and seething - just a mass of plastic clay, pink and cream looking and you gaze at it and that's

An important new fact: Crude petroleum containing aromatic hydrocarbons will make a gasoline high in natural anti-knock value.

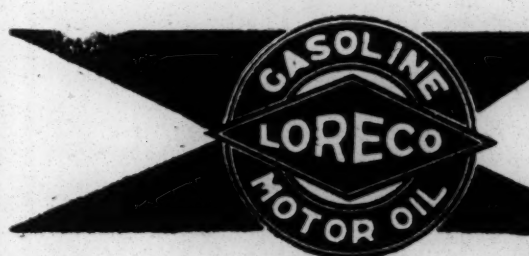

Loreco owns and produces from wells so favored by nature. The result is a premium gasoline already high in natural anti-knock value priced no higher than ordinary gasolines.

Hallowe'en Party.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Prouditt was the scene of an interesting Hallowe'en party on Thursday evening when Duval was host to a number of his friends.

The living room and dining room were decorated with pumpkins, black cats, bats, pumpkins and other symbols of Hallowe'en. The center of the dining table was adorned with an imitation witch and Hallowe'en favors and noisemakers marked each place. The masks and costumes of the guests added to the effectiveness of the scene.

Bobbing for apples and trying to bite those tied to strings were especially enjoyed.

In the midst of their merriment the door opened and there was a most horrible old witch riding the proverbial broom. After she had told their fortunes she disappeared as quickly as she had come and whence she came and whither she went will always remain a mystery.

Candies, cakes and fruit were served. Mrs. Prouditt was graciously assisted in serving her son's guests by Mr. Henry Pope, after which the party went to the home of John Rundle, Jr., where they were served delicious ice cream.

Here, too, Hallowe'en decorations were used in profusion and the pleasure of the evening seemed to be augmented with the passing of time. Later the usual pranks and jokes were played.

Besides Duval and John, the boys who made up the merry party were: Bobby Sharp, Miles Smith, Jr., Frank Tims, Clyde and Robert Horn, Dick Rule and Clifford Bailey.

Killinger-Smith.

A pretty wedding was solemnized on Thursday afternoon, November 7, at 3:30 o'clock at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Holder when Miss Lena Smith became the bride of Mr. Paul William Killinger, of Des Moines, Iowa.

The living room, where the ceremony was performed, was decorated with roses, dahlias and chrysanthemums.

Mr. Holder performed the very impressive ring ceremony in the presence of only members of the family and intimate friends.

The bride was lovely in a smart fall suit of brown crepe with blouse of burnt orange and harmonizing accessories.

Her flowers were a corsage of sweetheart roses and valley lilies. Since her graduation from high school Mrs. Killinger has held a responsible position with S. M. Cain & Co., general insurance agents. She is a gracious and charming young woman and numbers her friends by the score.

Mr. Killinger is the representative of W. L. Holley and Sons, Co., stationers of Des Moines, Iowa. His headquarters are in Grenada and it is here they will make their home.

The Sentinel wishes for this popular young couple much joy and happiness in their life together.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Turner, Mrs. Lester Cook and Mr. John Turner, all of Kosciusko, drove over Thursday of last week to see Mr. and Mrs. Turner's new grandson, Robert Turner, III, Mr. Turner, Jr., of Kansas City, who was visiting his wife and son, returned to Kosciusko with them for a day's visit. The others came back to Grenada Sunday to spend the day.

Joe Steele Entertains.

An informal Hallowe'en gathering took place at Mrs. Shade Steele's apartment on Thursday evening when her son, Joe, entertained several of his friends.

The room in which the games and pranks were played was artistically decorated to carry out the Hallowe'en motif. The guests were enough to frighten one another in their weird masks.

Later in the evening the young host took his guests to the "Hole-In-The-Wall" where "hot dogs" and other refreshments were enjoyed.

Joe's guests were: Gus Gerard, Charles Pope and Benjamin Franklin Jones.

Hallowe'en Affair.

An especially attractive Hallowe'en party was given Friday evening, Oct. 31 by Bobby Sharp at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Sharp.

Yellow chrysanthemums and other decorations in keeping with the spirit of the hour transformed the Sharp home into an inviting and mysterious place for Bobby and his friends to celebrate this occasion, always so exciting to young folks.

Various games and contests such as bobbing for apples and pinning the tail on the cat held their interest during the evening. They also played "rabbits" and participated in a "lemon race". Ice cream cones, cake and fruit were served.

Possum Hunt.

The senior B. Y. P. U. enjoyed a "possum hunt" in the hills across Bogue last Friday night.

There were about thirty present to share the fun. The hunt was a successful one for they got three "possums" and treed a coon, which they were unable to get because it was across the river.

Mr. Russell Bailey very kindly took his dogs.

The hunt ended, the party went back to the cars for a Weiner roast, a most fitting conclusion for this unusual evening.

Stumble Hostess.

The Wednesday bridge club met this week with Mrs. Joe Rumble as hostess.

Chrysanthemums in variegated shades were used to decorate the living room of her apartment where the games were played.

Mrs. Paul LaGrone, who was a special guest, won the high score prize, an attractive card table cover.

Later a palatable salad course was served. Mrs. R. L. McLeod, Jr. was a tea guest.

Taylor-Barrett.

Miss Thelma Barrett and Mr. Willie Taylor, both residents of Grenada county, were quietly married Tuesday evening, Nov. 5, at 7:30 o'clock at the Methodist parsonage, with the Rev. J. H. Holder officiating. Only members of the family and a few intimate friends were present.

The Sentinel joins in congratulations and good wishes.

Possum Hunt.

Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Thomason, of Pea Ridge, entertained the Senior Christian Endeavor at a "possum hunt" Friday night of last week.

WHEN CHILDREN Need a Laxative

"We have used Theodor's Black-Draught in our family for nineteen years. I have found it of great help in raising my family."

"I have given it to all six of my children. Whenever they complain of upset stomach, or begin to look pale and sickly, I make a tea of Black-Draught and begin giving it to them. In a day or two they are all right."

"I give it to them for constipation, and my husband and I both take it. I always give it for colds in winter, for I believe a way to prevent them is to keep the system clean."

Would You Know One If You Saw It?

If you ever came face to face with a germ, would you recognize it? Of course it is not likely that you ever will see a germ, unless you own a tremendously powerful microscope, for you would have to magnify one over thousand times to make it as big as a pin head. But you should recognize the fact that these tiny germs can get into your blood stream through the smallest cut, and give you typhoid fever, tuberculosis, lockjaw, blood poisoning, and many more dangerous and perhaps fatal diseases. There is no sure safeguard against these dangers—washing every cut, no matter how small, thoroughly with Liquid Borzone, the safe antiseptic. You can get Liquid Borzone at CORNER DRUG STORE

LIVING WITH PEOPLE OF OTHER RACES

LESSON TEXT—Acts 10:9-15, 30-35, Gal. 3:28, 29, Ruth 1-18, John 4:5-10, Rom. 1:14.

GOLDEN TEXT—Of a truth, I perceive that God is no respecter of persons, but in every nation he that feareth Him and worketh righteousness, is accepted with Him.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Friends of Many Races

JUNIOR TOPIC—Friends of Many Races

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Treating Those of Other Races as We Should Like to Be Treated

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Contribution of Various Racial Groups to a Common National Life

I. God is No Respector of Persons (Acts 10:34).

The approach to the heart of this lesson is through the Golden Text, Paul declared on Mars' hill, "God hath made of one blood all the nations of men to dwell on all the face of the earth" (Acts 17:26). The recognition of this supreme truth will take away all thought of racial superiority. God in choosing Israel did not show favoritism. They were rather chosen and disciplined in order that they might be the means of bringing the knowledge of God to all the nations of the earth.

II. Examples of Racial Harmony.

1. Ruth, the Moabitess (Ruth 1:1-18).

In the days of the Judges, because of famine in Judea, Elimelech and his family went to Moab to find subsistence. While there his two sons married Moabitish women. Not long after this, the father and the sons died, leaving three desolate widows. Learning that the famine was over, Naomi decided to return. Ruth insisted upon going with her and her determination was expressed in such wonderful words that they have become classic (Ruth 1:16, 17). She renounced her country and people in order to be identified with the people of the living God. In this we have an example of two very dissimilar people united as one.

2. The woman of Samaria (John 4:5-10).

The Samaritans were a mongrel people, not in favor among the Jews. This woman was not only of a despised people, but of a disreputable character. But when the light of God entered her soul she became a witness to her people of Christ, and the leader of a movement which prepared the way for the revival at the hands of Philip a few years later. So manifestly did the favor of God appear in Samaria that Peter and John came down from Jerusalem and gave to it endorsement. That which removed the barrier from between the Jews and the Samaritans was the personal knowledge of Jesus Christ.

3. Cornelius, the Roman soldier (Acts 10:9-15, 30-35).

The Jews hated the Romans because they were under bondage to them. Peter, the head of the apostolic group, was a Jew of strong prejudice. The time had now come for the removal of the wall of partition between the Jews and the Gentiles. To do this God chose a high-grade and influential Gentile to make the transition. Cornelius was a devout and praying man, though not saved.

In removing this wall, two visions were given:

(1) To Cornelius (Acts 10:3, 8). While engaged in prayer, an angel from God announced to him that his prayers and aims had come before God as a memorial, and instructed him to send to Joppa for Peter, who would tell him what to do.

(2) To Peter (Acts 10:9-16). In his vision Peter saw a certain vessel containing clean and unclean animals, let down from heaven and heard the command, "Rise, Peter, kill and eat." Against Peter's protest God said, "What God has cleansed call thou not common." This vessel let down from heaven and taken back again indicated that both Jews and Gentiles were accepted on high. The spirit of God bade Peter to go with the messengers of Cornelius. Upon arrival, Peter explained to Cornelius how God had removed his Jewish prejudice and then asked him to explain the purpose of sending for him. Being assured that they were ready to hear the message from God, Peter preached Jesus Christ in His life and death to them. In his sermon to Cornelius he set forth—

2. The basis of salvation—the death of Christ.

b. The scope of salvation—whoever believeth in Him.

c. The method of appropriation of this salvation—faith in Christ.

In endorsement of this message by Peter, the Holy Spirit was poured out and the gospel was now reaching beyond the Jews, there was a new Pentecost.

III. All One in Christ Jesus (Gal. 3:28, 29).

In Christ all class and racial distinctions are lost. Let those who would hasten the period of racial good will bestir themselves to the task of preaching the gospel of Jesus Christ—the only means of uniting the various branches of the race.

WE spend eight, twelve or even sixteen years fitting ourselves to make money, but not so much as an hour in learning how to make that money work and produce MORE money for us.

We work hard—and manage to save some money—but most of us STOP THERE, when, if we went just a step further and put our savings TO WORK we could materially increase our earnings.

For instance: do you know that only $1000 if PUT TO WORK—Can be made to earn $60.00 MORE a year for you?—and that is $5.00 a month.

It's not hard to put money to work to produce MORE money. Like everything else; it's easy IF you know how.

This advertisement is published so that YOU may know how to put your money to work in the same way that hundreds of customers of the power company have put their money to work. They have put their savings to work by INVESTING in about all. You have no words to express your great amazement. Nearby you see a huge mountain of sulphur and farther away on yon mountain the petrified remains of a prehistoric forest. You drive through fragrant pine forests, see scores of spouting geysers, and forget it to observe mother bear and her cubs begging father bear to come down out of a tree.

Another day you motor along the most gorgeous of all gorges. You are simply lost in delighted wonder. Beautiful lacy water falls, smaller than Niagara, but equally as pretty and sometimes higher, attract your attention every once in a while. John Colter, a member of the Lewis & Clark expedition was, we were told, the first white man to behold any part of what is now Yellowstone Park. The most wonderful of all the startling, weird and impressive geysers which draw their energy from invisible underground sources, is the one called Old Faithful. About every hour, he, she or it spurts up 150 feet or more and continues about ten minutes. The mysterious hot water fountains fascinate the beholder and leave an indelible record on the memory. We class Yellowstone Park as being unique in every way among the wonders of the world. We wish we could have stayed longer but the park closes in a few days as the heavy snows prevent traveling and right here we wish to say that if you have any friends ever coming this way by auto, say to them for me, that we observed no public garages in the park and I am very glad that we are not traveling with the car. However, if one is a mechanic, or has a mint of money, to stay in the park indefinitely, should automobile troubles arise, it might be all right, but it looked a little queer not to see proper accommodations for the faithful cars that might be bringing in spectators. Of course they may have such places, but I didn't see any.

We are leaving now in a few hours for the mild winter climate of Los Angeles. We have had a marvelous cross-continent trip and we hope all who have not seen the beautiful country through which we have passed during the last two months will avail themselves of this pleasure some day.

If the letters I have written you will be of interest to any of the wonderful people in Grenada County, and in Grenada especially, I will be very happy to have you pass them on. You may address us at home upon the receipt of this letter and we hope to hear all its well.

THE PRAYER OF THE TEACHER

"Inclosed you will find a clipping which was given me by mother years ago when a school year was opening," a former teacher writes The Columbia, (S. C.) State. "Now when a school year has just opened I am sending it to you to publish." The clipping referred to follows:

With the season approaching when teachers in public schools will be interned for another session's arduous and exacting duties, the publication of the appended "teacher's prayer" is altogether appropriate. It was addressed by a South Carolina girl to a former minister from this state, and was published in the Philadelphia Public Ledger. It was a petition that a prayer might be offered in her behalf; "a prayer for love," "a prayer for patience," "a happy heart," "right judgment," "and that I will be worthy of their wonderful love and that I may repay them tenfold." The letter is printed without alteration.

"First, a prayer for love—that my heart would be filled with love to guide those little hearts, and minds aright, to give them a start, a gentle, loving beginning on that wonderful long road of learning; so they will see and know the beautiful things around them. To hold the little hands firmly, so the little feet won't slip; so they will know there's some one near to help them over all the rough places."

"Second, and oh, a prayer for patience! Patience with the love to lead carefully the quick ones; to stand by those who plod; to go back cheerfully and help those who are slow!"

"Third, and ask Him to give me a happy heart—they need it and I need it so; to know just when to laugh; to teach them to see the funny things; to help them to have all the fun they can."

"Fourth, and pray that I'd have a right judgment—a fair and square judgment in all things—in the smallest thing for little things mean so much to little people. Help me to understand their little troubles."

"Fifth, And, finally, pray that I will be worthy their wonderful love and that I may repay them tenfold. In other words, ask Him to give me love and patience, courage and strength—a big heart, a right judgment, a helping hand and, I shouldn't forget, a soft, gentle voice. Those are some of the things I need to pray for. I am so willing to do and I'll do my best but I can't do it alone some days. There ought to be a special guardian angel to watch over and help teachers. Children are such queer little things—they ought to have the best women that live to guide them. Oh, if I could only know how to teach them what is good and best and true—if I could only help them on to better things! Well, I'll do my very best, by the help of God!"

humanity's challengeRED CROSS PURPOSE
TO CONSERVE HEALTH

Society Employs Rural Public Health Nurses; Teaches First Aid and Life Saving.

A comprehensive, nation-wide program to prevent illness, and to save lives through proper nursing care and advanced methods of life saving and first aid is fostered by the American Red Cross.

The organization is the largest employer of rural public health nurses in the United States, through its Chapters. The policy of the Red Cross is to encourage its Chapters to extend the public health nursing service, where leadership in this field is not taken by some other agency in the community.

The Red Cross health and life saving campaign embraces the following: preservation of health through skilled nursing care; prevention of loss of life in accidents; prevention of illness through cleanliness in the home and knowledge of methods of home care of the sick and raising the standard of health and physical efficiency through proper nutrition.

During the year just closed, more than 42,000 certificates have been issued in the Red Cross course in Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick, and since the courses were inaugurated more than 500,000 persons have been taught; 149,000 children were instructed in proper eating through the Nutrition course; 46,898 individuals passed the severe Red Cross tests in Life Saving and 52,596 persons passed the rigid examinations in the First Aid Course.

This work is supported from funds obtained in the annual Roll Call, Armistice Day to Thanksgiving Day, November 11 to 28.

Churchmen Ask Support
Of Red Cross Roll Call

Leading churchmen of the nation have joined in asking public support of the annual Roll Call of the American Red Cross. Two distinguished leaders who have sent messages to their congregations all over the country are quoted, as follows:

"I plead for an extension of our Red Cross membership until we can call a roll of every adult American," stated the Most Reverend Michael J. Curley, Archbishop of Baltimore. "I would like to see the children listed in the organization by their parents. I plead for it because of the spiritual reaction I visualize in our millions of contributing members."

"As president of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, I bespeak for the Roll Call of the American Red Cross the fullest cooperation of all the churches in the constituency of the Council," writes Francis J. McConnell, president of the Federal Council. "I cannot imagine that there is any minister who will not be grateful for the opportunity to call the attention of his people to the work of the Red Cross and to urge them to enroll in its membership."

Fifty-one nations belong to the League of Red Cross Societies, and are prepared to carry on health, disaster relief and life saving programs all around the world.

WOMEN KNIT AND SEW
FOR RED CROSS RELIEF

Volunteers Aid Through Motor and Canteen Corps—Send Gifts to Service Men.

Recalling the days of the World War, many women still make pajamas and other hospital garments, many knit sweaters, and more than 2,500,000 surgical dressings were rolled by volunteer workers for the American Red Cross Chapters all over the nation, in the year just closed.

The hospital garments are given to veterans and the surgical dressings go to civilian or Veterans' Bureau hospitals, or wherever needed. Many Chapters also maintain well stocked closets of surgical dressings and garments, in order to be prepared should a disaster strike their communities.

Volunteer workers make children's clothing and layettes which are distributed in time of major catastrophes. The Motor Corps of Red Cross women and the Canteen Service, also first created during the World War, still are maintained by many Red Cross Chapters. Last year the various Motor Corps, some with ambulances, answered about 30,000 calls, and the Canteens served more than 20,000 persons. They were especially active where floods or forest fires or other catastrophes called for feeding refugees or firemen engaged in active work fighting disaster.

Another activity of women volunteers is that of filling Christmas bags—small cretonne ditty bags—to send to soldiers and sailors who are stationed at posts or ports abroad. More than 40,000 of these are sent each year for distribution to the Americans at Christmas time.

New Crops in Flooded
States Bring Prosperity

The introduction of new habits of planting, following the Mississippi Valley flood of 1927, has brought added prosperity to farmers in many of the Mississippi Delta counties, according to Red Cross officials.

Almost every cabin has a fine vegetable garden, whereas cotton formerly grew right to the doorstep, the Red Cross states. The home demonstration and agricultural agents have followed up the project inaugurated by the Red Cross, immediately after the flood of 1927, with very gratifying success. There is a large acreage in corn, whereas formerly cotton was the one crop. Alfalfa has gained a firm foothold, and the growing of this crop is bringing good financial returns from the three or four cuttings each year. Live stock also is showing improvement due to these new crops.

Everything considered, the Delta sections which escaped a backwater problem in the spring of 1929, are in a prosperous condition, as a result of the follow-up and rehabilitation by the American Red Cross.

Little St. Eustatius Island in the Dutch West Indies gave refuge to American ships during the Revolution. The hurricane of last September struck the island, causing heavy loss. The American Red Cross was glad to send a small cash relief fund in remembrance of the historic friendship of the island folk for this republic.

Airplanes Drop Tons
Of Food During Flood

Army, Navy and Alabama National Guard airplanes delivered twenty-five tons of supplies furnished by the American Red Cross to flood refugees who were completely cut off from any other aid, during the serious floods in four southeastern States early this spring.

The three services made an average of fifty flights a day, delivering medicine, food, clothing and blankets. Most of the supplies were dropped to the refugees, who were isolated on hill tops and high ground, by the flood waters.

Naval aviators made a total of 115 flights during the flood period, embracing 15,000 miles. Observation planes also reported by radio where marooned refugees could be located, and a magnificent program of co-operation with the Red Cross relief forces was carried forward by all three aviation services.

The American Red Cross expended $8,669,627.24 in disaster relief work in the United States and its insular possessions and in eleven other countries during the year ending June 30, 1929.

To Whom it May Concern:

I am glad to hereby render testimony as to curative value of Robinson Spring Water.

Nineteen years ago my mother was afflicted with a long standing case of Diabetes. She was then about fifty six years old, had lost about thirty pounds in weight and had spent many sleepless nights. After drinking a gallon of Robinson Spring Water every day for six months she regained her health and has remained cured. She is now seventy-five years old, lively and healthy.

I am, very Respectfully

WEAK SPELLS

"I was so weak," says Mrs. Josephine Cockcroft, of Baldock, S. C., "that I was not able to do anything."

"At certain times, I suffered dreadfully with pains in my back and sides. My head would hurt—felt like it would split open. Spells of weakness would last for weeks."

"I read of Cardui. I sent for a bottle and began taking it. My case was stubborn, and at times I almost lost hope, but I could see a little improvement. At last I began to feel much better. Then I improved rapidly. For the last year I have been in better health than I ever have been before."

"I give the credit to Cardui, for after I had given it a thorough trial, I got well."

"Let's get up a Newspaper ad"

This is the first of a series of ads depicting the various processes of advertising production—watch for No. 2 in an early issue.

"first we must decide on a subject---"

LET us therefore devote our advertising efforts to the preparation of a Fall Opening Announcement for an imaginary store—The "Roseanne Dress Shoppe" for example, whose slogan we will assume is—"A Touch of Youth in every Garment." The nature of our store and the subject of our advertising being established, the next step will be to prepare a preliminary layout suggestion.

Save the ads in this series—when completed they will form a complete story of the preparation of newspaper advertising.

Sentinel advertisers, of course, need not rack their brains for ideas because our exclusive franchise for the Meyer Both Company's General Newspaper Service provides scores of advertising ideas on every subject—Use of this splendid service entails no additional expenditure. Our representative will gladly call and explain the service in detail.
